The first two wireframes give a general idea of what the promotions page of our final project should look like. Our project is to add enhancements on the restaurant website page we've built. This includes a general navbar/footer that is constant across the website and a carousel that rotates with the daily deals and acts as a gateway to the part of the menu that reflects the deal.

Store locator

enter postal code to find nearest store

The third wireframe is a lite location app for iPhone that would show the nearest location for one of our restaurants given the postal code. It would show the location of the store on a map and give the distance from the inputted postal code.
