

Use Case Scenario:

On the restaurant's promotions page, there must be a rotating carousel that displays the deals for each day of the week.

When the end-user clicks on the promotions tab (in the navigation bar), they must be taken to the promotions page. They must be able to view/see the deals of the week for each day of the week displayed in a rotating carousel widget. When they click on a particular deal, they must be directed to the appropriate menu tab where the discounted items must be shown.
